

Legal Internship at the World Employment Confederation- Europe (6 months minimum)

The World Employment Confederation-Europe is looking for a 6-to-9-month internship for a law student or young graduate with a legal background.

The World Employment Confederation-Europe is the voice of the recruitment and employment industry at European level. It brings together national federations from across Europe and corporations covering a wide range of HR services, including agency work, direct recruitment, career management, Recruitment Process Outsourcing (RPO) and Managed Service Provision (MSP). WEC-Europe is part of the World Employment Confederation, the global professional association representing the recruitment and employment industry.

The focus of the internship will be the following:

- To work jointly with the European Public Affairs Manager on setting up a monitoring and tracking system for current cases and recent judgements of the EU Court of Justice on temporary agency work and/or on labour market topics that could influence regulation on agency work:
- To support the World Employment Confederation-Europe Head Office with legal expertise in reviewing and assessing current and recent cases and judgements of the European Court of Justice
- To contribute to further developing the World Employment Confederation monitoring system on agency work regulation at national level (Europe and global level)

The World Employment Confederation-Europe is looking for a candidate with the following profile:

- Studies of law, with a focus on European labour law
- EU national or candidate with a valid residence and work permit for Belgium
- Fluent command of English and preferably one further European language
- Experience in setting up and maintaining a monitoring system covering labour law aspects and related EU jurisprudence
- Openness to work in an international team of the World Employment Confederation Head Office, currently comprising 7 FTEs.

The internship will be remunerated. Details on the internship contract and remuneration will be provided with the short-listed candidates in the interview phase.

Candidates interested in the internship are requested to submit a cover letter and CV by email to michael.freytag@wecglobal.org. Deadline for applications is the 10th of March 2021.
